Association of acute psychosocial stress with oxidative stress: Evidence from serum analysis.

Growing evidence implicates an association between psychosocial stress and oxidative stress (OxSt) although there are not significant increases in OxSt for both the SCZ and HC groups 90 min after the imposed acute psychosocial stress.