Home > no poles encodes a predicted E3 ubiquitin ligase required for early embryonic development of Drosophila.

no poles encodes a predicted E3 ubiquitin ligase required for early embryonic development of Drosophila.
no poles encodes a predicted E3 ubiquitin ligase required for early embryonic development of Drosophila.

In a screen for cell-cycle regulators, we identified a Drosophila maternal effect-lethal mutant that we named "no poles" (E2 heterodimer) and NOPO (E3 ligase) is required for the preservation of genomic integrity during early embryogenesis.